

Staff vacancies at West Ridge Veterinary Practice

April 2021

Mixed practice Intern

- We have a vacancy for a Veterinary Intern: a training position for a recent or new veterinary graduate wanting to gain practical experience in mixed veterinary practice being mentored by experienced vets and following a prescribed programme of training, whilst earning a reasonable salary and contributing to the veterinary team.
- The intern will be supervised and mentored by experienced veterinary surgeons in our team, according to a schedule of training over 12 months.
- The work is split between our farm and small animal departments, with approximately 60% of the time in our farm department, and 40% in the small animal.
- There is a minimal amount of TB testing involved, although there will be a requirement to become a TB OV. The practice employs a full time TB tester.
- A complete description and schedule of the internship is available to anyone interested.
- Contact us at vets@westridgevets.co.uk for a complete job description, details of the intern programme, and rewards.

Equine Vet

Our equine department has a vacancy for a full time equine vet. We would be able to accommodate a mixed practitioner with a particular interest in equine work if that is preferable.

The role would be to help provide the excellent clinical work currently undertaken in this expanding and respected equine part of West Ridge.

There can be some flexibility on the work balance, days worked, and the level of experience.

Junior receptionist

Witheridge surgery requires a new junior receptionist for our main HQ surgery. The role will include telephone duties, administration, cleaning and helping the current reception and nursing team. There will be some contact with animals, and so some affinity to animals and their owners will be essential. No previous experience is required as the job will be supervised and training provided.
